

An EU initiative on virtual worlds: a head start in the next technological transition

This Communication sets out the strategy and proposed actions on virtual worlds and Web 4.0. It builds on consultations with people, academia, civil society and businesses.

@EuropeanCommission

The voices of EU citizens participating in the European Citizens' Panel on Virtual Worlds, organised as a follow-up to the Conference on the Future of Europe, have been particularly relevant given the direct impact of virtual worlds on the way people will engage in the new digital environments.
