
Today, the EU and Canada strengthened their relationship as strategic and like-minded partners in the digital field.

At the 19th EU-Canada Summit, President von der Leyen and Prime Minister Trudeau launched the EU-Canada Digital Partnership. The EU-Canada Digital Partnership reflects a shared vision for a digital economy and society at the service of people, in a context of accelerating digital transformation and geopolitical uncertainty. The EU and Canada have a long-standing dialogue on digital matters. Now they have agreed to work together in crucial areas such as artificial intelligence, secure international connectivity, cyber security, online platforms, digital identity and digital skills.

President of the European Commission, Ursula von der Leyen, said:

The EU and Canada share the same vision of a digital future in line with our democratic values. The new Digital Partnership will help us strengthen semiconductor supply chains, increase our cooperation on Artificial Intelligence and secure connectivity and cyber threats.

Related topics

Creating a digital society

eGovernment, Trust services and eID

Connectivity

Cybersecurity

Digital Skills and Jobs

Trust services and eIdentification

International relations

Online platforms and e-commerce

Artificial intelligence

Source URL: