

First results of the EU Code of Practice against disinformation

Online platforms have submitted a first implementation report setting out the state of play of the measures taken by each of them to comply with their commitments under the Code of Practice on Disinformation. The Commission welcomes these actions but calls on online platforms to intensify their efforts in the run up to the 2019 European elections.

Online platforms and trade associations representing the advertising sector have submitted a first implementation report setting out the state of play of the measures taken to comply with their commitments under the Code of Practice on Disinformation.

The reports show that further efforts must be deployed in other areas to improve the reliability of the online ecosystem and the protection of users.

The monitoring of the Code of Practice is part of the Action Plan against disinformation that the European Union adopted last December to build up capabilities and strengthen cooperation between Member States and EU institutions to proactively address the threats posed by disinformation.
