

Election Interference in the Digital Age: Building Resilience to Cyber-Enabled Threats

- 15 October 2018 to 16 October 2018

Brussels, Brussels Capital Region, Belgium

With a number of watershed elections on the horizon, including the 2018 mid-term elections in the United States and the 2019 European Parliament elections, how confident can we be in the resilience of our electoral processes and democracies? Are policymakers and institutions adapting fast enough to constantly evolving threats and technologies? This High-Level Conference will gather leading experts and political figures from around the world to discuss questions relating to election security and how best to tackle the associated challenges.
