

Technology helping to preserve Europe's cultural heritage

An EU-funded project called Mingei is exploring the possibilities of representing and making accessible both tangible and intangible aspects of craft as cultural heritage.

In this week's episode of Futuris, Euronews finds out more about this project and how technology is helping to engage the younger generation with heritage crafts of the past - on where they originated from and how things were created years ago.

Related topics

Digital Cultural heritage
Supporting media and digital culture

---

Source URL:

<https://digital-strategy.ec.europa.eu/news/technology-helping-preserve-europes-cultural-heritage>