

New EU copyright rules that will benefit creators, businesses and consumers start to apply

This Monday 7 June marks the deadline for Member States to transpose the new EU copyright rules into national law. The new Copyright Directive protects creativity in the digital age, bringing concrete benefits to citizens, the creative sectors, the press, researchers, educators and cultural heritage institutions across the EU. At the same time, the new Directive on television and radio programmes will make it easier for European broadcasters to make certain programmes on their online services available across borders. Furthermore, today, the Commission has published its guidance on Article 17 of the new Copyright Directive, which provides for new rules on content-sharing platforms.

iStock photo Getty Images plus

Full press release

Related topics

Supporting media and digital culture
Copyright

Source URL:

<https://digital-strategy.ec.europa.eu/news/new-eu-copyright-rules-will-benefit-creators-businesses-and-consumers-start-apply>